Wall Street Associates Truck For Tohoku

On Sunday, March 27th, 2011, Wall Street Associates K.K., a mid to executive level recruitment company headquartered in Tokyo, was able to deliver a large consignment of water, food and basic medical supplies through donations from staff and customers across Japan. Our van met with 2 trucks leaving Costco in Saitama to drive to HOPE International’s Depot in Fukushima.

Over 25 individual customers and organisations as well as Wall Street Associates employees donated essential supplies and cash in less than 3 business days. Donors included Tomoko Iwasaki, Miyuki Yamaguchi, TARGIS K.K., native creative Y.K., and Herman Miller Japan.

15 Wall Street Associates Staff volunteered to assist with packing, loading and driving the van.

We collected 7 boxes water, 12 boxes food and snacks, 3 boxes of medical supplies, 4 boxes of baby goods, 7 boxes of sanitary towels, 1 box of batteries radios, 4 boxes of wet tissue, 2 boxes of Hokkairo, 2 boxes of masks, 1 folding bike, 1 blanket, 1 box of clothes, 1 box of towels, and over 50,000JPY in cash donations.
